STUDENTS SOMEDAY—Looking forward to Family Week are three youngsters whose parents attend BYU. Richard Murphy, son of Mark and Marilynn, Nanette Neubert, daughter of Bud and Marilyn, and El Ray Peterson, son of Elwood and Sabra, are ready to participate in the various activities planned for members of BYU student families this week.

Dedication Rites Set Tuesday

Joseph Fielding Smith, president of the Council of Twelve Apostles, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will conduct services on Tuesday dedicating and naming 12 new buildings on campus.

The buildings, constructed at a cost of $5,050,000, will be dedicated at 11 a. m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Separate meetings honoring the namesakes will be held in each of the buildings at 2 p. m. The buildings will remain open all day until 5 p. m. for public inspection. Complete campus tours will be conducted.

Of the campus buildings the Joseph F. Smith Family Living Center will be named for the sixth president of the Church, the Benjamin Cluff, Jr. Plant Science Laboratory for the second president of Brigham Young University; the Howard S. McDonald Student Health Center for the university president from 1945 to 1949, and the Harvey Fletcher Engineering Science Laboratory will be named for the dean of the College of Engineering and Physical Sciences.

The eight Heritage Halls will be named after Elsie C. Carroll, Lavina F. Fugal, Karl G. Young Gary, Vilate M. Kimball, Emily S. Richards, Martha Whitney, and Ina D. Young.

The Joseph F. Smith Family Living Center, named for the father of the current president of the Council of Twelve Apostles, was built at a cost of nearly $2,000,000, and houses the Departments of Sociology and Psychology, the School of Nursing, and the College of Family Living.

Tuesday will find heated oven competition among bread baking wives Mrs. BYU will feature the results of her culinary arts at 3 p. m. in the lobby of ESC. According to Susan Klenk, chairman, judges for the event will be Monroe McKay, Huntsville, Darrel Walker, Salem, Ore., and "one or two other hungry tasters."

Trophies Awarded

Two trophies will be given to winners in the plain and fancy breads divisions respectively. Wives having questions regarding the event are asked to call Mrs. Klenk.

Humor highlight of the week is expected to be Wednesday's display of husbandly baking prowess. Bulls in the bakery will match talents for such prizes as "Ugliest Cake" (cake most likely to last); "Prettiest Cake" and "Best All-around Cake."

Judges for the event, who are experts at cooking up things themselves, will be Duane Hiatt and Verland Whipple.

Men Cook

Men are asked by committee chairmen Bud Klenk and Ralph Stanford to have their "choice morsels" in the ESC lobby at 2 p. m. They also stated, "bake any kind of cake you want."

Under the direction of chairman Winslow Christensen, married couples will retreat to Provo Canyon Friday evening at 5:30. Couples are asked to bring their own food and be prepared for an evening of sports, story telling and singing.

Climax of the week will be Saturday night's dance, "Live Again." The ball will furnish home baked cookies for refreshments. Family members will be invited to this final activity.

Sen. McCarthy Funeral To Be In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A State funeral will be conducted Monday for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in the Senate Chamber where he tasted the fruits of both victory and defeat.

The Wisconsin Republican's colleagues will assemble at 11 a. m. (EDT) for solemn memorial rites in the great arena of political conflict which echoed often to the sometimes wrathful, sometimes gentle voice of the Senate's arch-foe of Communism. The Senate services will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the Senate, assisted by a clergyman of Sen. McCarthy's own faith.

The widow, 31-year-old Jean Kerr McCarthy, gave her assent to the plans for final tributes to her husband who died Thursday night at Bethesda Naval Hospital of acute hepatitis, a disease of the liver.

Brickers, Tausigs Begin 'Hatchet' Competition

by Bill Jackson
Daily Universe Reporter

At 9:50 a. m. Monday morning a challenge will be issued in front of the Eyring Science Center which will begin activities for the traditional week of rivalry for all Brickers and Tausigs. The Bricker-Tausig Burythe-Hatchet Week.

This event first spilled blood 26 years ago when each unit claimed it was the oldest unit on campus. Every year since then has had a week of intense (to put it mildly) competition between the two units.

Last year saw the Brickers taking gas and the Tausigs emerging as champions, and this year the Brickers are determined to reverse the decision.

During the week Brickers and Tausigs will show their devotion to each other. One of the highlights will be the traditional tug-o-war in which the losers will be greeted by the "business end" of a fire hose.

The unit which is victorious in at least five of the nine planned athletic events will be declared winner of the week. Results will be posted on the bulletin board in front of the ESC.

Climaxing the week will be a canyon and square dance party on Friday evening. At this time the hatchet will be on display during the week in the ESC, will be buried . . . by the loser presenting it to the winner.

The studentbody-at-large is invited to attend all activities and is promised some sights never to be forgotten. Following is a schedule of the events:

Monday: 9:50 a. m., official challenge in front of the ESC, 4 p. m., Softball at Harmon Park.

Tuesday: 4 p. m., track meet at the stadium; 7 p. m., basketball at Smith Fieldhouse.

Wednesday: 4 p. m., football at the stadium; 6 p. m., volleyball in the East Gym.

Thursday: Tug-of-War challenge in assembly; 12 noon, Tug-of-War, south of the ESC.

WILL WE CONTRIBUTE?

Forty thousand people in the United States are expected to die in traffic accidents this year. Will Brigham Young University make a contribution to this awesome toll of death?

AH DAME FORTUNE

Fortunately here have been no traffic-caused deaths on campus in the past, but there is always a time and there are many things places inviting accident and sorrow within our snug, hilltop community.

To become more aware of the dangers of speed, "California" stopping and sheer recklessness, one need only join the campus security patrolman on night watch. It is certainly an eye opener.

Speed is the crux of our traffic problem only abetted by poor lighting, lack of signs, a standard speed limit and lack of paint.

SPEEDY GEMS

An almost unbelievable number of high-powered, high-priced vehicles are operated by students, some of whom persist in displaying the quick acceleration of their gems. Also, many older models seem capable of breaking campus speed limits at any time. Our suggestion—take it easy and save a life.

Lighting on strategic roadways is definitely a hazard. The straightaway in front of the men's dorms is a likely spot for accidents to occur. Pedestrians are prone to cross the street on another sidewalk, walking across it at anytime or any place. Needed—a cross walk. Lack of proper lighting leaves a blind spot on the dorm side for drivers who aren't too attentive anyway. Our suggestion — a row of bright lights stationed in front of the seven dorms.

There are not enough signs informing drivers of the existing speed limit nor a sufficient number of right-of-way signs. This situation is especially emphasized at the five-street junction where 7th East meets the campus, Knight-Mangum Hall, four other streets and a snarl of unyielding, hot-tempered drivers every day.

There are stop signs many yards back. However, there are no signs informing drivers whether to yield or to keep going. More pugnacious pilots of vehicles bull their way through and boisterously demand the right of way. Others, less impetuous individuals get into the middle of the entanglement and just sit and stew.

BRIGHT PAINT

Badly needed, also, is some good bright paint. Once red curbs look like well-used Rand McNallies. Pedestrian lanes are a thing of the past. Nowhere on campus is there a pedestrian lane bearing enough paint to attract a driver's attention.

Plenty of paint and something to draw a straight line with may enable us to provide a place where walkers can feel safe in crossing and a warning which most gentlemanly drivers will take note of.

Of course the question remains, how many of us are gentlemanly drivers? Possible for one security cruiser to police our sprawling confines. Ninety-nine per cent of the responsibility then lies with the driver who evidently needs both a lesson in manners and also one in driving properly.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE

We suggest a standard speed limit of 20 miles per hour on the campus, 15 is made to be broken. . . it's impossible.

Let us hope that some of our traffic headaches might be solved without the sacrifice of a life. It's no fun to learn the hard way as 40,000 families will tell you every year.

NOBODY ASKED ME, BUT—over try speeding on a speed-way, driving in a driveway, or parking on a parkway.

Talk about living it up. Chrysler has an order for 50 new Italian-built Crown Imperials, 6¾ ft wide, two air conditioners (one for the chauffeur, you know), three heaters, space for TV, and gold-plated trim. Wonder if a vault is offered as optional equipment?

With Studebaker-Packard tied to Curtis-Wright's purse-strings, all-around production should be improved. But unless the drawing-board magi come up with better designs, the shekel arrangement might still be a flop.

Studebaker - Packard's engineering (torsion level suspension and dual traction) is up with the best of the industry, but, oh, that designag!

Whassamatter no daylight saving time in Utah? Admittedly, there are good positions for and against having it, but in Utah where the mountains cut off much of the sun, seems it might be a good thing. No?

Either way, though, the procedure should be the same throughout the country, to avoid confusion. As it is now, even communities within the same state often have different times.

PET PEEVES: So many trysting places on campus, yet lovers scatter their emotions and affections before the studentbody. What ghosts don't BYU lovers have any originality or is the some fetish demanding true love be seen by everyone to be accepted? Just can't figure this out.

Jimmy Dean . . . Jimmy Dean . . . Jimmy Dean! Hardly a week passes without some review of his life and loves. He paid high price for his living, so we can't be at least rest in peace in the grave?

KOENIG'S KORNER: Why not roller skating at Alma Miner? West Point is adding variety to its sports curriculum and it seems a good bet for BYU. So, why not?

Talking sports, one report from the baseball hierarchy has the Brooklyn team in L. A. for 1958. Hope brother O'Malley remembers the Flatbush Faithful by naming them Los Angeles Dodgers.

BYU CONFIDENTIAL: Gift mick used by at least one student-athlete in his pose as Daily Universe reporter to gain entrance to otherwise-cipher Heritage Halls.

Mamselles have a contraclause prohibiting infringement on their LDS standards. Yet people quite satisfied since they makes the girls good investment material. (Their "change-a-page" disc takes a little getting used to, but it is a good record. More surprises in store on 1 ture releases, too.)

FLOP

Dear Editor

We would like to commend the "Y" Day committee for the organization and the successful planning of the cleaning up on Wednesday. We were on the hill, and felt that the organization up there was very effective. However, putting it bluntly, the activities at the stadium were a flop.

First, we feel that the activities were planned more for the social units then they were for the wards and others participating. We understand that only a small percentage of the students are affiliated with social units; therefore, why not plan "Y" Day for the majority of the students. We are not prejudiced against social units, but we feel this day could be turned into an all-school affair which everyone looks forward to.

Second, due to the utter confusion on the field and loss of organization, there were certain unexcused disturbances (no need for clarification). It seems to us that we, as BYU students should be able to conduct ourselves appropriately and control a little more with those in charge

We don't know who was responsible for the disorganization, but we do know that there should be a definite improvement. Lets hope that next year's "Y" Day will be for all.

"Love that social whirl."

Y DAY RUMPUS

Pier-Six brawling and childish haggling flavored with carping and what was considered by most a highly successful Y Day. It will undoubtedly go down in history as the hardest working, hardest fought in the history of the school.

HATE BAD PUBLICITY

Social units on Brigham Young University's campus have long abhorred bad publicity and have hurled consistently accusations of prejudice at non-members who often take great glee in ribbing such childish antics.

Units' popularity rating dropped a good many points when they wound up a normal holiday with a hose-swinging, face-kicking, rope-swinging brawl.

It is difficult to point out specific organization as the villians of the act. Undoubtedly some saner members decided that a flag wasn't worth kicks in the head. Yet it leaves onlookers with a bad taste and a fixed impression as to the worth of social units at this university.

Highly competitive spirit is a sign of healthy organization and a cohesiveness that is the chief desire of most clubs. Held in matured, it is undoubtedly a great asset, unchannelled properly, very dangerous.

However, the misguided battlewagon aw last Wednesday caused reputations to teet and possibly sell point took a quick dip.

GOOD DEEDS WASTED

Social units have done many good deeds th few of us hear about. Y Day itself members toiled as hard as any of us. Worthy pr jects in the community were accomplished well as aiding in the cleaning of the Y. But a good works went swiftly down the drain oblivion for just a few minutes of head knocking.

We feel a public apology is in store for th display of misguided muscle. Perhaps a quiet sobering up now will dispel any rumours th Y Day should drop from the calendar.

Who Says They Don't Come Back?

by Roland Hinkson

Ever heard anyone say, "When you get married and have a family, you won't be able to go back to college either"? "Hogwash!"

LeRoy Heaton, Brigham Young University music major, and his wife, former Esther Smith, came back to school with their four children after an interval of 11 years.

Buzzing bees didn't provide the kind of music he Heatons prefer. So they sold their Kanab ee business and enrolled in BYU.

LeRoy, who plans to teach music in high chool after he graduates in two years, hopes is future students will be more tractable and ess "bumbley." Of course, it may be hard getting used to hearing students call out for "bonny" but not meaning it literally.

Heat's On

Maybe the "heat'ion" with the family Heaton, or perhaps they are taking orders from the Queen Bee—anyhow, Wymount neighbors say hey have a busy hive.

Esther is Relief Society president of BYU First Ward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She does her own baking and sewing besides being a mother to four children and wife to a busy student.

Clementina Woodfield, Relief Society second counselor and neighbor, says "I don't see how she does it. Besides all her household duties, she goes everywhere with her husband and takes the children too."

LeRoy, who sang in California with a BYU musical tour recently, is Wymount First Ward choir director.

Couple Meets

The couple met at Utah State University and were married in August 1946.

Both LeRoy and his wife are musically inclined. Of course, they have a program of musical indoctrination for the "kiddies." While Papa sings, Mama plays the piano. When Daddy's voice gets hoarse, they trade—or something like that.

LeRoy, youngest of the Heaton boys, has two brothers on BYU faculty—Professor Israel C. Heaton, associate professor of recreation, and Alma Heaton, instructor in physical education and recreation.

Cougars Scalp Utes In Weekend Sports

BYU Bombs Utah 10-2 In 2nd Game

Home runs by Karl Brooks and Cornell Taylor powered Brigham Young University to a 10-2 victory ver Utah's Redskins Saturday in Provo, enabling the Cats to gain a split of a two-game weekend series against the Utes who won Friday's opener in Salt Lake City 4-2.

The win Saturday was a must for Brigham Young. Had Utah won the two-game series the Redskins would have sewed up the Skyline Conference's Western Division crown.

Owen Skousen handcuffed Utah with just four hits, all singles, and would have had a shutout except for shaky support in the sixth.

Brooks' 360-foot blast over the left field fence was the first home run in Cougar Park and earned the stocky right fielder assortments of gifts from Provo merchants.

Taylor's high fly ball down the left field foul line came with the bases loaded and just cleared the fence tieing the game for the home town club. An estimated 2,500 fans overflowed the bleachers.

Shortstop Curtis Jenson was the big stick for the Utes in the visitors' attack. He hit one in the fourth drove in two of three runs scored that inning.

Jack Gerrard and Blaine Sylvester, Utah, pitched good games early and relieved five times. Cravens struck out eight while Sylvester fanned ten.

Lynn Foster and Phil Salter were the big men for BYU. Foster had two hits, including a triple. Salter had two singles Norris Christensen collected the other hit for the Cats.

BYU got off to a one-run lead in the first frith one out. Taylor struck walked, stole second and with two down Foster drilled a single to left to score Moyes.

Cat Golfers, Netmen Nip Utes 10-8, 4-3

Cougar golfers Thursday won their second straight Western Division championship by defeating Utah 10-8 on the Timpanogos course.

Coach Fred (Buck) Dixon's Skyline Conference champions turned in a fine clutch performance late in the meet to down an improved Utah team they had beaten 15-3 early in April.

John Geertson and Phil Canon each needed a birdie on the final hole to insure the Brigham Young University win. The Cat duo each stroked one under par to defeat Utah's Jim Ellsworth and Brian Goldsworth. Geertson's 72 was the best score of the afternoon.

BYU's Max Fillmore was down by two strokes to Jim Rigby. Fillmore came on strong to beat his Utah opponent by one.

"Tip" Pearse defeated Norm Jorgenson, BYU, 798-3. Utah's Goldworth nipped Cannon 75-78.

Led by freshman Dick Dixon, BYU's tennis team avenged an earlier 6-7 setback at the hands of Utah by nipping the Redskins 4-3 here Friday.

The sparkly fresh competitor won a close 14-12 first match from Utah's Brooke Grant and followed it with a 6-2 clincher.

With the meet knotted at 2-2 going into the final doubles match, Dixon teamed with Gary Madsen to whip John Doidge and Grant in a thrilling 12-10, 5-7, 7-5 match.

The surprise win put the Cougars on a par with Utah's Skyline tennis champions and marked the first time the Redskins have been beaten this year.

In singles play Doidge beat Madsen 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Stan Collins, BYU, downed Derold Parker, 6-4, 6-3. Utah's Dick Marshall overpowered Stan Kimball, 6-3, 6-2.

The Cougar's Wilmer Lee nailed Bob Walkinshaw, 6-4, 6-4. A doubles team of Parkin-Marshall beat BYU's Collins-Crandall, 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

UTES Eat Cats' Dust, 103-27; BYU Dominates AAU Meet

by Don Thorup
Daily Universe Sports Writer

Cougar track men rolled up an impressive 107-2/3 to 27-1/3 victory in tronucing the University of Utah in a dual meet at Cougar Stadium, Friday.

Some 4,000 partisan fans witnessed the scalping, cheering the Cats to their most lopsided win this year.

Two Western Division records and one conference mark were tied during the meet. Kent Christensen, Utah, picked up the division marks while Dave Parker garnered the conference tie.

Christensen sprinted a 9.6 century and followed it with a 20.9 in the 220 tying the record in both events In equaling the Skyline mark in the high hurdles, Parker clipped off a 14.4 time.

BYU first came in the 440, mile run, two mile, high and low hurdles, pole vault, broad-jump, high jump, shotput, discus javelin and relay events.

Arlyn Finlinson broke the tape first in the 440 in :49.7, while Jay Fife and Garry Griffiths coasted to wins in the mile and two mile respectively. The low hurdles were won by Dick Miller in 23.7 and Marcus Nellson copped the broad jump event.

Ben Brooks soared 23 ft. 2 in winning the broadjump, just after Ralph Bonham and John Bennett took 3rd in ft. 4 in. In the high jump Curtis Brown and Gary Merrill took charge of the shotput and discus by finishing one-two, with Brown garnering shotput honors and Merrill grabbing first in the discus.

Claude Hinkins heaved the javelin 202 ft. 7½ in to finish first, and BYU's great mile relay team toured the course in 3:18.1 to finish well ahead of the Redskin foursome The anrelay team consists of Jim Crtenden, Oscar Anderson, Wayne Chamberlian and Finlinson.

BYU produces continued winning ways Saturday by pring up points in every event to take team honors in the Intermountain AAU trackfest. The Cats garnered 72½ points, followed by Utah State, 36 ½, Utah, 22.

"Cougar of the day" was Paul Anderson, who set a new AAU record in the 880 in "sprinting" across the finish line in 1:53.1. The old record stood at 1:56.2, set by Ander son last year.

Other records were established by Kent Christensen, Utah, in 100-yard Dash; Utah State Utah's "blond flash" he Jerry Prewitt, one of the speediest stars, in the 100 yard dash and outlasted Mike Larrabee in the 220 to set a new mark of :20.6. Larrabee, a special event brought in to run the 440, was first in :48.2.

Olympic stars, Charley Dumas, Milt Campbell, and Bob Garcia, won their respective events Dumas high jumped 6 ft in , Campbell won the discus event high hurdles mark of 13 and Garcia heaved the javelin 228 ft 8 in.

Ben Brooks won the broad jump with a leap of 23 ft 6 in. Other winners for the Cougars were Joe Tyler, mile; Gary Griffiths, two mile; Dick Miller, low hurdles; Marcus Nielson (tie) pole vault; Dave Parker, high hurdles and mile relay, composed of Oscar Anderson, Blaine Arney, Wayne Chamberlain, and Jim Crittenden.
